Y Numb. 576

The Daily Courant.

Saturday February 19 1704

From the Amſterdam Gazette, dated Feb. 26.

Vienna, February 17.

A Prieſt ſent hither by the Archbiſhop of Collocza, with the Project of an Accommodation on the part of the Rebels of Hungary, went back again yeſterday with the Emperor's Anſwer. 'Tis reported this Project is agreed to and ſign'd, and that the chief Articles conſiſt of the following Points, I. A general Amneſty. II. Liberty of Commerce, and of tranſporting all Goods, Corn, Wine, &c. III. A Reform in the publick Management, to the end the Troops may be regularly paid. IV. A Regulation to prevent the Imperial Officers from committing any more Abuſes and Diſorders. V. Reſtitution of ſuch Eſtates as have been unjuſtly confiſcated. VI. Free Exerciſe of Religion, conformably to the Royal Treaties, &c. General Heiſter decamp'd the 9th inſtant from Bruck on the Leita, and advanc'd to Walterſdorf. The following Night he was alarm'd by the Rebels, who burnt the Lordſhip of Mannerſtorf. The day after, that General receiv'd Advice, that the Rebels were advancing in great Numbers, upon which not finding himſelf ſtrong enough, he thought beſt to repaſs the Leita, to be the better poſted to make head againſt them. They write from Lintz, that 600 Bavarians have burnt Galheim and Newmarck near Beyerbach, in which laſt Place they inhumanly butcher'd 30 or 40 Men, whom they ſurpriz'd unarm'd in their own Houſes. They write from Paſſau, that the Bavarians carry themſelves very inſolently there; that ſome particular Burghers are oblig'd to find Lodgings for 70 Soldiers, and that the Inhabitants of that Place are treated with as little Humanity as thoſe of Ausburg. 'Tis adviſ'd that a Body of Imperialiſts having forc'd ſome Intrenchments defended by 2000 Malecontents near Arath, kill'd the greateſt part of them and took 12 Colours. We having had no Letters 4 Poſts together from Oedenburg, fear that Town is fallen into the Hands of the Malecontents; the rather becauſe 'tis reported Count Caroli is not return'd over the Danube into the Upper Hungary, but has lain with 10000 Men ſome days before Oedenburg.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated Feb. 26.

Stutgard, Feb. 18. The French make great Preparations for a Siege, at Ulm and in all other Places they are poſſeſs'd of on the Danube; And give out they will take the Field on the 27th inſtant. There are Reports (but what Credit they deſerve we cannot determine) that the French and Bavarians agree ſo ill that they frequently fall together by the Ears; that the former make loud Complaints againſt the other; and that the Marſhal de Marſin is very uneaſie, und would fain have a greater Share of Power in Bavaria than the Elector is willing to give him.

Frankfort, Feb. 20. The French continue to make Preparations at Strasburg and other Places in Alſatia, for ſending 15000 Men to reinforce their Army in Bavaria; And they write from the Upper Alſatia, that they will take their March through the Black Forreſt: In apprehenſion of which the Generals of the Allies are taking all neceſſary Precautions to ſecure the Paſſages, and fruſtrate their Deſign.

From the Amſterdam Gazette, dated Feb. 26.

Warſaw, Feb. 5. Yeſterday the Confederates met again purſuant to their laſt Adjournment, and the Marſhal (in the Cardinal Primate's Abſence) read a Letter from the Palatine of Siradia, in which he applauds the Reſolution of the Confederates, and laments his being hindred by his great Age from aſſiſting in the Congreſs. The Deputies of the Confederates having attended Monſieur Wachſlager, the King of Sweden's Reſident, with an Invitation to aſſiſt in the Congreſs, he excus'd himſelf, but told them the Count of Horn was coming with full Powers and Inſtructions from his Maſter the King of Sweden; and accordingly the Count arriv'd here laſt Night. 'Tis ſaid Monſieur Wachſlager has refus'd to conſent to the Admiſſion of the Commiſſioners of the Republick into the Congreſs, unleſs they will enter into the Confederacy. To day there was no Aſſembly, becauſe the Cardinal Primate gave a magnificent Entertainment to all the Members of the Congrsſs. The Treaſurer of Plosko is inſtructed to offer the Generals of the Army of the Crown, on the part of the King of Sweden and the Confederates, one Years Pay, which amounts to above a Million of Crowns. General Reenſchild has poſſeſs'd himſelf of all the Offices of the Collectors of the Revenues in Great Poland, and obliges them to pay him all the Money ariſing by the Impoſt on Beer and Wine, which the Diet of Lublin gave the King of Poland to be employ'd in augmenting the Army; At the ſame time it is very obſervable, that the Nobility of great Poland exclaim'd againſt this Impoſt as a great Grievance, urg'd it to juſtifie their entring into this Confederacy, and deſir'd the King of Sweden to protect them againſt thoſe who ſhould offer to levy it; yet now the Swedes levy it themſelves, and execute the Reſolutions paſs'd in a Diet which they have ſo often told the World was illegally conſtituted. The French Faction ſollicit Monſieur do Bonnac, the French Miniſter, to come hither, with deſign 'tis ſuppos'd to enter into Meaſures with him in favour of the Prince of Conti.

From the Amſterdam Courant, dated Feb. 26.

Heidelſheim, Feb. 19. 'Tis confirm'd that the King of Poland arriv'd at Cracow the 3d inſtant; and 'tis further adviſ'd, that he has ſent moſt of his Equipage and Servants towards the Frontier of Ruſſia, and 'tis believ'd will ſoon go thither himſelf and bring in a Body of Muſcovites and Coſſacks into Poland to aſſiſt him againſt the Swedes. A Letter is handed about, ſaid to be written by the K. of Sweden to the Republick of Poland,' tis dated December 23. in it he tells the Republick that the only Means to reeſtabliſh Peace, is to place Prince James Sobieski, Son of the late King, on the Throne; promiſing to maintain him in it.

Hamburg, Feb. 22. The Letters from Poland tell us, his Poliſh Majeſty is preparing to go from Cracow to Sendomir, and that ſeveral Saxon Officers are gone to Saxony to begin the new Levies. The Swedes make greater Preparations of War againſt the next Campaign, than they have done in any Year ſince the War began.

Lorraine, Feb. 18. Letters from Madrid of the 30th of laſt Month tell us, that Advice was come thither of the Arrival of the Amirante of Buenos Ayres the 13th at Cadix richly laden; he came out of the Rio de la Plata in Auguſt, with the Capitana and the Petache, but was ſeparated from them by bad Weather. Don Garcias de Guſman, Maſter of the Horſe to the King of Spain, deſir'd lately to quit that Office; but was order'd to prepare to follow his Majeſty into the Field; under pretence that his Majeſty could not be ſatisfied with any other Perſon but him him in that Station. The 21ſt Ult. the Palace of the Parliament of Bourdeaux took fire, and was burnt down to the Ground, with all the Records, &c, that had been laid up in it for above 200 Years paſt. They write from Paris, that Baron Spar, who is arriv'd there from the K. of Sweden's Army, has offer'd the Crown of Poland to the Prince of Conti; but that Prince ſhews no Inclination to accept it. The Departure of the Marſhal de Tallard for Strasburg, is fix'd to be on the 24th inſtant.

Hague, Feb. 26. The Letters from Liege and Maeſtricht inform us, that a conſiderable Body of the Enemy's Troops is drawn together about Namur; and will quickly put themſelves in motion, on ſome Deſign, which by the great Number of Pioneers they have ſummon'd in, 'tis ſuppos'd is to repair the old, or throw up new Lines; Mean time the Troops of the Allies quarter'd on the Maeſe are making Preparations either to oppoſe the French, or execute ſome new Enterprize.

Falmouth, Feb. 14. Yeſterday was brought into this Port by 2 Fluſhing Privateers 2 French Prizes of 16 Guns each, coming from Martineco, laden with Sugars, Cacoa, &c. At the ſame time arriv'd here 2 Ships from Lisbon, who bring the good News that 10 days before they ſail'd thence, Her Majeſty's Ship the Panther, with the Prince of Heſſe, and 1 Tranſport Ship with Soldiers arriv'd there. As alſo that a Spaniſh Poſt which came in 5 days before they came away, bronght the following Account, viz. That 25 Sail of capital Ships, none under 60 Guns, together with 80 Tranſports, which ſail'd from Thoulon about 2 Months ſince, did in the Gulf of Lyons meet with ſuch a Tempeſt, that 8 of the Men of War founder'd, and ſeveral more with a great many of the Tranſports loſt all their Maſts, and were very much ſhatter'd and diſabled; And that 2 Men of War with the like number of Tranſports of that Fleet put into Barcelona, from whence this News came from an eminent Engliſh Merchant to his Correſpondent in Lisbon.

Plymouth, Feb. 15. Yeſterday about 9 in the Morning paſs'd by this Harbour to the Weſtward the Grand Fleet with the King of Spain, about 100 Sail of them were ſeen from this place. At the ſame time ſail'd hence to joyn them Her Majeſty's Ship the Swallow, and under her convoy 27 Merchant Ships bound for Portugal.

Cowes, Feb. 16. On Sunday laſt was ſtranded on Bembridge Point on the Eaſt ſide of this Iſland, a Ship from Stockholme bound for Lisbon, having on board 59 great Iron Guns, with ſome Iron and Deals; all which 'tis ſaid will be ſav'd.
